The Scientist Who Challenged Fauci Over AIDS

Right from the start, Dr. Doom was a bust on medical science.

Lloyd Billingsley

In his home office, Dr. Anthony Fauci sits facing a life-sized portrait of himself that falls short of his actual self-image. The Biden advisor, a government bureaucrat since 1968, now claims “I represent science,” therefore those who criticize him are criticizing science itself. That invites a look at Dr. Charles A. Thomas, the first biomedical scientist to challenge Fauci, and what that means for embattled Americans in 2022.

Charles Thomas, who preferred to be called “Charlie,” earned a chemistry degree from Princeton and a doctorate in physical chemistry from Harvard. Thomas taught physics at the University of Michigan then Johns Hopkins tapped him as professor of biophysics. Harvard then brought back Thomas as professor of biological chemistry, and after 11 years he became chairman of the cellular biology department at the Scripps Research Institute in La Jolla, California.

Thomas and his colleagues were the first to demonstrate that virus particles contained a single molecule of nucleic acid. His work showed that viral DNA molecules were terminally repetitive, beginning and ending with the same sequence of nucleotides. Thomas’ work also centered on the unusual structures formed by telomeric DNA sequences. The background of Dr. Anthony Fauci is somewhat different.

Anthony Fauci earned a medical degree in 1966 but if he ever practiced medicine it was only for a short time. In 1968, to avoid treating wounded American soldiers in Vietnam, he hired on as “yellow beret” with the NIH. Fauci’s bio showed no advanced degrees in molecular biology or biochemistry, vital for the study of virology. Even so, in the early 1980s Fauci became the government’s point man on AIDS and claimed the cause was a retrovirus known as HIV.

UC Berkeley molecular biologist Peter Duesberg, an expert on retroviruses, found no evidence for that cause. Neither did Nobel laureates Walter Gilbert and Kary Mullis, inventor of the polymerase chain reaction. Neither did Charlie Thomas, a successful entrepreneur who founded several biotech companies. Free from dependency on government funds, Thomas launched the Scientific Reappraisal of the HIV-AIDS Hypothesis, with Mullis, Duesberg, Robert Root-Bernstein and many other medical scientists signing on.

Dr. Fauci claimed HIV “overexcites some immune signaling pathways, while eluding the detection of others. And though the main target of the virus appears to be the famed helper T-cells, or CD-4 cells, which it can infiltrate and kill, the virus also ends up stimulating the response of other immune cells so inappropriately that they eventually collapse from overwork or confusion.”

Thomas and Mullis responded that “no other virus is credited with such a dazzling repertoire of destructive skills.” HIV was “a conventional retrovirus with a very simple genetic organization,” and had not been shown to damage the immune system. In other words, Dr. Fauci had no clue what he was talking about. Mullis, who earned his PhD in biochemistry at UC Berkeley, went on record that Fauci “doesn’t understand electron microscopy and he doesn’t understand medicine. He shouldn’t be in a position like he’s in.” But he was.

That position was director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), the division of the NIH in charge of vaccines. Dr. Fauci’s remedy for AIDS was AZT (azidothymidine) a DNA chain terminator rejected for cancer treatment because of cytotoxicity. There was no evidence that AZT, marketed as Zidovudine, would cure or prevent AIDS. Even so, Fauci subjected foster children and pregnant women to trials of AZT and other dangerous drugs.

Charles Thomas believed “it was a matter of civic duty” to get involved, because “real fabrications” were taking place. “Nowhere has such a morally destructive scam by self-interested scientists been permitted,” Thomas told The Harvard Crimson. “$7.35 billion is being spent on AIDS research and education based on the HIV hypothesis. These dollars should not be taken from the taxpayers.” But they were.

Dr. Fauci’s prediction that AIDS would ravage the general population was hopelessly wrong, yet Fauci remained at the helm of NIAID. Fauci’s wife Christine Grady, whose 1995 The Search for an AIDS Vaccine is a classic of casuistry, is now head of bioethics at the National Institutes of Health, nepotism on a whole new level. Whatever Dr. Fauci wants to do, dutiful wife Christine will tell him it’s ethical. True to form, Dr. Fauci wants infants as young as six months to get vaccinated.

Anthony Fauci lacks the qualifications and experience of distinguished biological scientists such as Charles Thomas, Peter Duesberg, Kary Mullis, and many others. Instead of debating the facts with epidemiologists Jay Bhattacharya (Stanford), Martin Kulldorff (Harvard) and Sunetra Gupta (Oxford), authors of the Great Barrington Declaration, Fauci launches a smear campaign against them.

Fauci funded dangerous gain-of-function research at the Wuhan Institute of Virology and lied about it to Congress. When Sen. Rand Paul called him out, Fauci attacked Paul as a liar. The NIAID boss claims “I represent science” and looks up at a life-sized portrait of himself. Behold a man in love with himself and his power.

Dr. Fauci lays out public health policy and with a NIAID budget of more than $6 billion, controls the purse strings on medical research. Those who challenge Dr. Fauci can find their funding at risk and their careers on the line.

That is what happened to UC Berkeley molecular biologist Peter Duesberg, a pioneer in cancer research. As a forthcoming article will show, the consequences proved disastrous for health and science alike.

Of Good Cheer

Edwin Tan

It is virtually impossible to find an individual who has a plain sailing journey from the cradle to the grave. You might hear distorted claims of the above said at a specific eulogy, but did it genuinely fit the narrative? Probably the less savory elements in a lifespan have been deleted!

Trials, testings and tribulations have smitten all of humanity; no one has truly ever been immune – the outcome of our innate Fallen Nature has made this inevitable. Trajectories in a life journey have been altered; oftentimes, we hear of a personal tragedy having severe repercussions, not just on the recipients but also on those they cross paths with. Conversely speaking, coming out of an unwarranted challenge can be a watershed event for quite a substantial group of people. A turnaround in a positive sense of the word can be a springboard to an uptrend in some life journeys – more so an inspiration to many onlookers who could get more than a shot in the arm from such realities. Or is it just a half-truth?

The Living Word has no space for any half-truths as far as trials, testings and tribulations are concerned. The genuine, unadulterated truth on this topic is spelled out in John 16:33. “These things I have spoken to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will have Tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.”

Herein sits an interesting question. There are those who battle on with the struggles of living on this increasingly difficult planet – they may have had their victories, but are they genuinely happy folks?

It is dead easy to put up a convincing show for the media spotlight, but these can be a misleading and thin veneer that hides the real deal. But for those who dwell in the Living Word, the good cheer is like that which comes naturally. More than that! The Holy Spirit enables the believer in Christ to have hope regardless of the situation, and this is the spiritual empowerment that overcomes earthly obstacles. This unique arrangement is only available to believers who walk the talk – only those who put everything in the infallibility of the Word of God!

All of us going through these darkening days need to be of good cheer; we have the infinite Prince of Peace on our side. We can smile at numerous stormy episodes because we know that He will not leave us nor forsake us (Hebrews 13:5). There could even be extraordinary testings that almost put us to the end of the tether. Take heart! Do not let your mind run wild about what happens should you cave in. Focus on the Lord, on what He can do that is beyond our comprehension. He knows our limitations and our innate fallacies.

“No temptation has overtaken you except such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you are able, but with the temptation will also make the way of escape, that you may be able to bear it” (1 Corinthians 10:13).

All of us are part and parcel of the Bride of Christ. Will the loving Heavenly Father allow the pure and chaste eternal partner of His Son to be badly bruised by the evil that is widespread across the globe? Definitely not! He will sustain us and enable us through the anointing of the Holy Spirit. He has done

His part, but we have to do our bit. We have to call on Him and not fall back on our weakness in any dire situation. Surely, He will deliver us and not leave us to fend for ourselves!

LGBT Thought Police: Cops Raid Home Of Woman Who Criticized Trans Ideology

If you are one of those who believes that the transgender movement is about tolerance rather than a totalitarian takeover, you have not been reading the news these past few years.

Back in 2018, a 38-year-old mother was arrested in Hertfordshire, U.K., at her home in front of her ten-year-old autistic daughter and 20-month-old still-breastfeeding son -- for having an argument with a transgender activist on Twitter and "misgendering." She was detained, photographed, fingerprinted, and locked up for seven hours.

Then there was Marion Miller, an accountant and mother of autistic twin boys. She was charged with "hate speech" under the Malicious Communications Act for tweets disagreeing with transgender ideology posted in 2019 and 2020 and could have faced two years in prison. The charges were not finally dropped until late 2021.

And on Sunday, January 23 of this year, the Gwent Police arrested 53-year-old disabled women's rights campaigner Jennifer Swayne, detaining her for over 12 hours and releasing after 3:00 a.m. for defending biological sex against gender ideology.

They subsequently raided her house, taking posters and stickers deemed "offensive" by trans activists with phrases such as "no child is born in the wrong body," "humans never change sex," "no men in women's prison," and "Woman=Adult Human Female."

The police also confiscated a collection of essays edited by Dr. Heather Brunskell-Evans and Professor Michele Moore titled Transgender Children and Young People: Born in Your Own Body. Swayne accused the police of "Stasi" tactics and told the press she'd been "arrested for a hate crime" and accused of being an "exceptional threat" to transgender people.

The police claimed that they received six complaints about Swayne's stickers and posters regarding their "abusive writing likely to cause harassment, alarm, or distress." Swayne posted her own perspective on Twitter:

Yesterday Sunday 23rd/01/22 I was arrested for hate crime. Gwent police saw me as an exceptional threat to the T community by posting stickers and posters that did not mention T once. They were feminist in content and, I felt, pleasingly informative to women and concerned.

When my house was raided, it has come to my attention that a BOOK was taken by the police. A book edited by Heather Brunskell-Evans on GC children. It was crammed with my notes. MY THINKING IS BEING INVESTIGATED- not things, not materials, not actions my actual thinking.

Fair Cop, a free speech organization, has stated that the Gwent Police are guilty of "unlawful interference" and has offered to provide Swayne with legal aid in the case should she need it. On Twitter, Fair Cop announced: "We have our legal team in place. We will be setting up a donation platform in the next few days. In the meantime, we have paid costs and will be bringing our A Team. You picked on the wrong people."

Jennifer Swayne has been released on conditional bail and is still being investigated. As the Daily Mail observed: "She is the latest in a series of women, men and campaigners who have been labelled as 'anti-trans' after expressing their views or publishing works which challenge the status quo."

Storm Warning

Jonathan Brentner

The weather fascinates me. Some say that I'm a bit of a nerd when it comes to tracking severe thunderstorms and snowstorms. With smartphones and high-definition radar, we know what's coming weatherwise.

Did you know that Jesus also referred to the weather watchers of His day? Luke 12:54-56 records the words he spoke to the crowds:

"When you see a cloud rising in the west, you say at once, 'A shower is coming.' And so it happens. And when you see the south wind blowing, you say, 'There will be scorching heat,' and it happens. You hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of earth and sky, but why do you not know how to interpret the present time?"

In the above text, Jesus scolds the Jews for their ability to discern weather patterns but not the signs telling them their Messiah stood in their midst.

Might Jesus make a similar statement today regarding Christians and pastors who remain blind to the numerous prophetic indicators of the last days that abound around us? I am sure He would.

The particular storm warning for our day is found in Revelation 6:1-8. The dark threatening clouds on our horizon point to nearness of the time when these four riders will burst out of their stalls and gallop across the earth.

For us as believers, it signals the nearness of Jesus' appearing; we will be in heaven with Jesus when opens the seals that initiate these judgments.

The White Horse with the Rider that Conquers

The rider upon the white horse in Revelation 6:2 may be the antichrist or someone who conquers in advance of his tyrannical rule over the nations. The description of this rider indicates that he will conquer without using military might or perhaps with the threat of war.

"And I looked, and behold, a white horse! And its rider had a bow, and a crown was given to him, and he came out conquering, and to conquer."

Klaus Schwab, the founder and head of the World Economic Forum (WEF), provides us with an example of wielding consider clout apart from military might. The support for his radical Great Reset includes leaders from all across the world.

The following world leaders took part via video conference in the recent Davos Agenda 2022 sponsored by the WEF (Klaus Schwab moderated all sessions): [i]

- Xi Jinping, President of the People's Republic of China
- Anthony Fauci, Chief Medical Adviser to the President of the United States
- John Kerry, the US Special Presidential Envoy for Climate
- Janet Yellen, Secretary of the Treasury, US Department of the Treasury
- UN Secretary-General António Guterres
- Indonesian President Joko Widodo
- Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison
- Japanese Prime Minister Kishida Fumio
- Yemi Osinbajo, Vice-President of Nigeria
- Carlos Alvarado Quesada, President of Costa Rica
- Jose Pedro Castillo Terrones, President of the Republic of Peru
- Olaf Scholz, Germany's new Federal Chancellor
- Brian Moynihan, Chairman and CEO, Bank of America
- European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen

I am not saying that Klaus Schwab will be the rider on the white horse; I believe it will be someone else. However, the worldwide support he has garnered for his vision of a one-world communistic government provides an insight into how this rider, probably the antichrist, will do so in the future.

The Red Horse Signifying War

The apostle John describes the second horse and rider in Revelation 6:4:

“And out came another horse, bright red. Its rider was permitted to take peace from the earth, so that people should slay one another, and he was given a great sword.”

It's clear that what we now see in our world shouts loudly that this horse is about to romp through the nations. Consider just a few of the hotspots in our world that explode into much larger conflicts:

1. Russia continues to amass considerable military might on its border with Ukraine, which is also putting a great number of troops on the border. With some NATO nations sending military help amid rumors that the US will send eight thousand troops to the conflict, the tensions increase by the day. I do not know what will happen here, but it seems like it could spark a major war in the future.
2. Many fear that the rising hostilities between the US and Russia, related to the conflict in Ukraine, could lead Putin to launch an attack on American soil.
3. Iran continues to pour missiles and weapons, along with many soldiers, into Syria. Turkey and Russia also have a significant military presence there.
4. China continues to threaten Taiwan by sending warplanes toward the island nation.
5. A war rages in the Arabian Peninsula between the Iranian-backed Houthis in Yemen and the moderate Arab states, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates.

We are not yet at the time when this horse will leave its stall; that will happen after the Rapture. However, it seems abundantly clear that the stage is set for major wars across the planet.

If this were a severe storm coming our way, we would already see the dark clouds on the horizon.

The Black Horse of Great Economic Turmoil

The alarm bells are also sounding for the great economic turmoil that will come on the heels of the black horse described in Revelation 6:5-6:

“When he opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, ‘Come!’ And I looked, and behold, a black horse! And its rider had a pair of scales in his hand And I heard what seemed to be a voice in the midst of the four living creatures, saying, ‘A quart of wheat for a denarius, and three quarts of barley for a denarius, and do not harm the oil and wine!’”

The conditions described above depict great inflation where a “quart of wheat,” a relatively small amount, would cost an entire day’s wages. This is extreme inflation.

Many economists warn that trouble lies ahead for the world in the form of a depression that will be much worse than during the 1930s.[ii]

Michael Snyder, who often writes about the dire state of the US economy, recently sounded the warning about the inflation numbers for December 2021, which showed the consumer price index rising by 7%. He concluded his article, The Dollar Has Entered a Death Spiral, and a Lot More Inflation Is on the Way, with these words:

This truly is the beginning of the end for the US economy, and I would recommend that you prepare accordingly. [iii]

Where I live, the cost of natural gas for heating my home has gone by 80%, and the price of gas per gallon is up about 33%. These factors will continue to push grocery bills higher and severely hurt those living on fixed incomes.

I believe the Lord will continue to sovereignly hold back the worst of the coming economic disaster until after the Rapture (as He has for many years). Please know, however, that it’s only a matter of time before this turmoil explodes in the US and brings the world’s economy down with it. This has already started to happen.

The Pale Horse of Death

When the Lord opens the fourth seal, death envelopes the world as never before in human history. In Revelation 6:8, John writes about what he saw next:

“And I looked, and behold, a pale horse! And its rider’s name was Death, and Hades followed him. And they were given authority over a fourth of the earth, to kill with sword and with famine and with pestilence and by wild beasts of the earth.”

One-fourth of the world’s current population would amount to close to two billion people. The great wars and famine of the future will result in a death toll not seen since the Genesis 6 flood.

The previous riders will contribute to this enormously high death toll. We have already seen the tragic result of tampering with the COVID virus to make it much more contagious and deadly.

The COVID-19 injections are already contributing to a high death toll in the world. As of January 14, 2022, medical personnel have reported a total of 22,193 deaths as the result of the mRNA to the CDC in America, along with 39,150 permanently disabled. We know from previous years that at the very most, doctors report only ten percent of vaccine injuries to the CDC; it’s actually much closer to one percent. [iv]

The true death toll from the mRNA injections likely stands at 221,930, at an absolute minimum. The true number is almost certainly in the millions; so many have died and suffered because of these shots.

The Good News for Those Who Know Christ

I cannot finish on such a dreadful note as the enormously high death toll that will occur in the early part of the Day of the Lord. For those of us who know Jesus as our Savior, our anticipation is most decidedly not the Lord’s wrath that will fall on this world in the near future. Ours is the “blessed hope of Titus 2:11-14. Pause and think about our wonderful anticipation of the Lord’s appearing to take us home to the place He’s preparing for us (John 14:1-3).

Jesus is our future, not the coming time of Tribulation that will soon overtake the world.

For those of us in Christ, the storm warning signifies the need to hold the things of this life loosely, knowing that we may soon be in the presence of our Savior. No one knows the day or the hour of Jesus' appearing, but the storm clouds on the horizon of our world tell us that it's ever so close. We surely live in biblical times. He could come for us any day now; it could be one just like today!

If you are reading this and have not yet turned to Jesus in faith, now is the time to heed the storm warnings and run to the Savior who promises eternal life to all who call upon Him.
